

Film Review Rubric 2014-2015

Skill	Exceeding	Meeting	Developing	Attempting	Incomplete
The film review shows a clear understanding of the task.
The film review takes a position on the movie and may offer a critical context for discussion.
The film review addresses complexity by <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>● examining different perspectives on the issue, OR</li> <li>● by evaluating the implications and/or complications of the issue, OR</li> <li>● by responding to counterarguments to the writer's position.</li> </ul>
Development of ideas is ample, specific, logical, and fully elaborated.
A clear focus on the specific issue in the prompt is maintained.
The organization of the film review is clear: the organization may be somewhat predictable or it may grow from the writer's purpose.
Ideas are logically sequenced.
Most transitions reflect the writer's logic and are usually integrated into the film review.
The introduction and conclusion are effective, clear, and well developed.
The film review shows a good command of language.
Sentences are varied and word choice is varied and precise.
There are few, if any, errors to distract the reader.
